Paul Bridle - Challenging questions, re-thinking the future.

Paul is a Leadership Methodologist. For nearly two decades he has studied effective organisations and the people that lead them.

Clients call on Paul because of his ability to explain things in a simple and uncomplicated way. He is very challenging but with respect and in a manner that helps people take a fresh look at what they need to do to raise their performance. His global perspective combined with personal research means he gives practical ideas that people can actually use to raise their ability to manage and lead.

As a result of his research around the world, he is called upon to assist both private as well as public organisations by acting as an advisor or consultant on a range of projects relating to management and leadership issues or development.

Currently he is working on developing case studies of outstanding organisations from around the world. He is also pulling together his research and recording examples of best practice on key business issues.

I just wanted to drop you a note to say I really enjoyed your presentation last week. It was completely engaging, informative and kept my interest throughout ..... Your presentation received rave reviews all round, so thank you for your contribution it really hit the spot!"
